2) This site is for information only, is developed for the purpose of examination and is not a substitute for specific medical advice and diagnosis from a medical practitioner or therapeutic guidelines from statutory bodies. We do not make any claims as to your likelihood of success in any examination and do not provide guidelines for the management of patients. We will not be liable for any interventions or omissions or any harm to third parties. We do not accept any responsibility for or make any warranty with respect to the views expressed or the procedures outlined on this site.

3) We reserve the rights to change our terms and conditions from time to time. Any such changes will be highlighted in our news and updates section and will replace all previous terms and conditions with immediate effect.

Privacy

At MRCOG Survival Courses, we are committed to protecting your on-line privacy. The information we collect about you is used to provide an enhanced learning experience and is not shared with any third parties. We will NOT sell, trade or rent any information we collect to third parties.

We may, however, disclose information in special cases when we have reason to believe that disclosure is

- a) Reasonable and necessary to comply with the law
- b) Necessary to enforce or apply our terms of business
- c) Necessary to protect our rights and those of other users

Sales Policy For the MRCOG Correspondence Course

When you have filled in the Correspondence Course on-line application form and submitted your credit card details, the sales transaction (registration for the MRCOG part 2 correspondence course) has taken place.

Delivery of Course Material Policy

Within 14 days of the transaction taking place (see above) you will receive the first part of the course material, via e-mail, in PDF format. The remaining part of the course material will be sent at regular intervals, depending on your chosen duration of the course.

We do not send material by post or fax.

Receiving and Correcting Answers Policy

Your answers to the essays should be sent to us in electronic format via e-mail. That is to say they should be handwritten and scanned or typed and then sent as electronic documents. One useful option is to save the scanned image as PDF or as a pict. file and paste it into a Microsoft Word document, which is then e-mailed to us. It is your responsibility to sort out sending your answers to us in a suitable format.

We do not accept answers sent by post or fax.

Once the answers are received they will be corrected and the marking and feedback report will be e-mailed to you within 14 days of receiving your answers.

Cancellation & Refund Policy

If within 24 hours of applying to the course, and before you receive any course material you wish to withdraw, please e-mail us at cancellation@mrcogcourses.co.uk and a full refund would be made. Canceling after 24 hours of application or after receiving course material (whichever earlier) invalidates your claim for a refund, which would therefore not be made.

Return Policy

No returns are accepted.

Personal Information Security Measures

All the data we collect from you is transmitted securely over the internet. This site uses SSL (Secure Sockets Layer) technology to prevent online transactions from being intercepted. This helps to insure that your information is confidential and protected. Connecting to our members only and registration sections automatically establishes a secure connection with our server.

You will also notice that the address of the server that you have connected to does not contain the standard "http://". This will be replaced with "https://" once a secure connection has been established.

When secure connections are made, you will notice a closed padlock or complete key in the status bar of your browser. Please note that you must use a browser that supports SSL 1.0, SSL 2.0, and SSL 3.0. Some older browsers do not support SSL technologies or these protocols. However, you may download many browsers for free from various sites and great measures have been taken to insure that this system is compliant with most web browsers.

Payment Security Measures

As security is of paramount importance to our clients, every aspect of our payment system has been developed with this in mind, ensuring that all sensitive information is protected throughout the payment process. We use digital signatures to verify the identities of the various computers involved in the transaction process. Communications within the system are encrypted using 2048-bit RSA encryption.
